A Walking Jour of Appleton's Old Third Ward

Strolling down the tree-lined streets of the Old Third Ward neighborhood is a walk back in time one hundred and fifty years to the conception of what we know today as the city of Appleton.

As you go, your eyes feast on a banquet of architectural styles, nineteen and twentieth centry commingled.-American Foursquare, Bungalow, Queen Anne, Italianate, Gothic Revival, Prairie. These homes reflect a coming together of people from all walks of life with a common goal of building a community. Shopkeepers, tradesmen, lumbermen, industrialists, physicians, politicians, lawyers, teachers, artists, inventors, laborers, salesmen, bankers, tailors-ingredients not only for the birth of a town, but of a nation.

Band deeds in the "core" area are rich with names of explorers and pioneers of Wisconsin-John Baptiste Benoit,

Augustin Grignon, Amos Bawrence, Reeder Smith, Edward West, Theodore Conkey, Anson Ballard, Fred

Packard, Sam Ryan-individuals who turned dreams into reality.

The Old Third Ward began as the "Grand Chute" settlement, appropriately named for its location at one of the most treacherous rapids of the Fox River. This village plat was one of a trio, the other two being Appleton and Bawesburg, that eventually merged into Appleton, the city. The area claims the oldest (1851) home in Appleton located at 515 W 5th St. and a number of homes are still occupied by descendants of early settlers.

In March 1994, the neighborhood was placed on the endangered property list by the Wisconsin Trust for Historic Preservation. Since its beginning, the Old Third Ward has sacrificed its careening ravines, its boulevards, trees and more than forty homes to make room for buildings, parking lots, streets and bridges--all in the name of progress. With pending plans to turn additional homes into parking lots, residents have done extensive research and developed this walking tour to share the "living history" of the Third Ward with friends and neighbors. It is hoped that the community will support the cause of preservation in the Old Third Ward. Without continued vigilance over all of Appleton's historic treasures, a century and a half of our heritage can be destroyed in a day to be gone forever.
